To Whom It May Concern:

I am a pediatric neuropsychologist, licensed to practice in both Nevada and Utah. My practice currently offer comprehensive neuropsychological and psychological evaluations for children between 2 ½ and 17 years of age. Our team offers expertise in evaluating and diagnosing a wide range of childhood concerns and diagnoses, including Autism Spectrum Disorder, Attention Deficit/Hyperactivity Disorder, Learning Disorders, Intellectual Disabilities, Developmental Delays, Communication Disorders, Anxiety, Depression, and Mood Disorders, Obsessive-Compulsive Disorder, and Behavioral Disorders. We also offer evaluation for giftedness.

Given the diversity of the population that we serve, our team works with children who struggle with learning for various reasons on a daily basis.

In my opinion, one of the greatest resources for the families in our community who have children in need of specialized intervention to improve their academic abilities, is KoolMinds, founded and operated by Jura Kool. KoolMinds is the first place that we refer families when their child is diagnosed with a learning difference because we have seen the quality of their service, and the positive impact that they have on their clients, time and time again. The feedback that we have received from families about their experience with KoolMinds has been overwhelmingly positive.

Ms. Kool is an asset to our community; she is very responsive to questions and has always been able to provide our clinicians as well as our patients and their families with valuable insight and practical tools for improving academic performance and remediating academic difficulties.

When Ms. Kool informed me that she was growing her practice to Utah and Idaho, my first thought was how amazing it will be for families in those states to be able to access her services.

It is exciting to think how many more children and families will have a better quality of life because they will be able to get the help that they need to succeed academically.

In sum, I highly recommend that you consider referring any child with a learning difference to KoolMinds.

Please feel free to contact me if I am able to provide additional information in support of KoolMinds and Jura Kool.

Warmly,
